

Beyond History: Supporting David Irving in His Greatest Challenge

79 Comments / News / By dominique

Dear Readers,

Last October, after arriving in Florida, David Irving fell ill and has been in declining health ever since. He is now back in the UK and requires round-the-clock care, a demand we've had to arrange privately due to constraints with NHS services. He was hospitalised for nearly two months, enduring the kind of challenges we never anticipated he would face.

It is with sadness that we must accept that David is now unable to engage in his life's work. His unwavering dedication to unveiling Real History has not only defined his career but also enriched the minds of readers worldwide. David's situation, however, has placed us at a crossroads where the path forward demands collective support.

This is an appeal to safeguard the essence of a man whose life's work has been to bring us closer to the nuanced truths of our past. Your donations will be pivotal in two primary areas:

- Medical Care and Support: Your contributions will ensure that David receives exemplary care to manage his condition and uphold the highest quality of life.
- Preservation and Continuation of His Work: Financial support is also imperative to safeguard David's extensive body of work.

To participate in this crucial effort please donate. Here, you'll find all the necessary information to make your contribution.

Regardless of size, every contribution is a step towards sustaining David's impact on historical literature.

Your support and solidarity in this challenging time are invaluable. We will keep you informed of his health and well-being as he faces this stage of his life with dignity. He is in good hands.

Warm regards,

David Irving's family

Oh, that's so heartbreaking! I'm from São Paulo, Brazil, and I really love all of his writings and his quest for real history! And yet today we are more than ever seeing how much he was absolutely right about the traditional enemies of free speech! He is a hero! An example of the bravery of real historians! May everyone be able to donate to him! He deserves it!

Hello,

I received the email regarding the very sad news concerning Mr. Irving's current health situation.

I'm sure I'm not the only one who is wondering, but are there any plans to have the final Churchill and Himmler books published anytime soon?

One could only think that by publishing this would preserve Mr. Irving's legacy and help raise funds for him.

I was really struck when I got the e-mail addressing Mr. Irving's current health situation. When I found out Mr. Irving gives free access to all of his books a couple of years ago, on his own site, I couldn't believe that in this day and age someone would forfeit possible income in the name of sharing hard earned knowledge for free. I immediately purchased three books (Hitler's War, Rommel, Dresden) and after whole year of saving money, just last month, I purchased three more (Goebbels, Goring, Nuremberg). Purchasing those books, even though I could've download them for free, gave me a sense of pride of doing the right thing. That kind of feeling is lost in this world and I can only thank Mr. Irving for giving me the chance to experience it. I will be donating as soon as I'm able, and will be purchasing more books for years to come. Thank you, from the bottom of my heart.

To his family, whom must have been to hell and back alongside him for past not years but decades, I wish peace and strength in this hard times. With this new site and continuing his legacy, you've done your father proud already.

I first really became of who David Irving was and his importance during the Lipstadt Trial in 2000. A few years before I had seen a couple of his books for sale but dismissed them as being written by some propagandist author. However, reading those trial transcripts and what they revealed set me on a path of correspondence with him till the present day. I have seen him speak three times in 2001, 2003, and 2008. I was lucky enough to have a one on one dinner conversation with him when he was passing through on his last US tour in 2018. I have all of his books and the Gehlen Memoirs that he translated had information in the book that was very revealing and applicable to my own life. This information solved a life mystery for me. I will donate soon and will always cherish our correspondence which lasted over twenty years. I hope by some miracle he makes a full recovery and is able to finish his final works the way he wants them to be finished. I wish him all the best and my prayers are with him.

I wish the Irving family strenght and unity. David's contribution to truth did not come cheap. He was a truth warrior. One who was shaking the hornets nest. What he has achieved cannot be undone in any mind that has been in contact with his writting or lectures. I wish to thank him for his work. He must know that it might have been a job for him but it was a profound gift to the world, to morality and sanity. Learning the truth about WWII has shined light on all the current lies necessary to keep the old propaganda version gowing. I can now live in truth. But I am only a man. I cannot imagine the relief a parent of beautiful german children feels when she discovers she has concrete evidence to heal the shame, guilt and self loathing that is maliciously instilled in every german child. His work is a cure to the historical lies so German children can grow up being proud, not hating who they are! This is priceless!

I'll be waiting to see when you put new dates on your calendar so I can buy a ticket and have the pleasure of listening to you in person. If you can come to Canada!

Thank you Mister Irving! The Archive King!!! Take care

It was with great sadness and concern that I received the email about Mr. Irving's declining health. He has become my favourite author bar none and, having read nearly 10 of his books, I relish the prospect of reading more and almost began to feel that he would simply continue writing forever. He is, truly, as mortal as the rest of us.

I will make a donation to support this giant of a scholar – someone who has changed my perspectives on history and encouraged me to question so much of what I have been taught or thought I knew about relatively recent history. Mr. Irving tackles issues head on that others either skirt or simply avoid because they are difficult, yet it is in dealing with the most difficult questions that true progress is made.

Thank you for your life's work and your inimitable style, Mr. Irving! Godspeed you in your recovery!

I worked with David Irving after a brief chat (at the time I was splitting up with someone, and sought paid work). He kept his fpp.co.uk site (Focal Point Press) which he kept on his Apple computer. He was involved in his lawsuit against Lipstadt and Penguin Books – not the other way round. At this time he lived in his Duke Street flat (=apartment, in US English) with his Scandinavian wife, and young daughter. He had what's called a military bearing, dissimilar from what I now see as the concealed military types, generally Jews using parasitized money to arrange conflicts and deaths.

It was a fascinating experience to attend the Law Courts in the Strand, watch the huge band of Jews working their computer and comms systems, see the parades of young 'Jews' watching, going for lunch there where such dim luminaries as Mrs Tony Blair plied their money-grabbing trade. I was photographed with an infra-red camera, I suppose by some Jewish clown. I noticed Kevin MacDonald now of the Occidental Observer, Lady Renouf (a recent awakener), and no doubt others.

David met many people in those days and told me money poured into 'every available orifice'. I was only slightly Jew-aware at the time, and regret not keeping in touch with him, especially as I developed along different lines, very much suppressed by the 'powers that be', such as the Jewish ownership of all sides in WW2 and for that matter WW1.

I have to say I despair at some of the comments here – Snowden, Assange, Pilger are of course phonies; the Hitler-worshipping types have managed to steer themselves into deep grooves, so the manufactured animosities remain uncorrected; some still believe parts of the Holohoax fabrication; none mention such things as the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, which ushered in the present era.

Strokes can be fairly harmless, but can be deadly and life-shattering; I fear David may be irreversibly injured. I hope not. I hope he can recover sufficiently to complete his life's work. I'd be even more pleased if he could obtain information from Jewish archives – if they keep them – and produce unique new work.

I hope it's too early to say R.I.P. – I shall just hope for David's revival

David Irving has been the highest quality historian for over 60 years now. I first read his books in the 1980s. these books were easily available. As powerful forces tried to suppress his work he entered into a new phase, self publishing and distribution. we met through the post. His friend down South that handled USA distribution was a good guy, but then he was unavailable. I complained and recieved a letter and refund directly from David Irving, as his friend was murdered. I then started to help Me. Irving, set up a few small lecture groups, help sell some books. it was always fun and interesting to hear him speak. It's been a honour knowing you my friend. I really hope that the news circulating online isn't true but I fear that it is.

From the beginning they burned and censored all your books, stole your documents, blacked out and denigrated you everywhere and even imprisoned you, all because you had opinions based on research, research that over time turned out to be more and more truthful. You had the opportunity to interview and dialogue with very important people for the theses that you then revealed to the world.

This is the reality of free speech in liberal democracies being hated and persecuted because you have brought uncomfortable and real facts to light.

You must be proud to have had DAVID IRVING as your father, a giant among men whose only fault was that he dared to challenge a system held up by lies.

Cheers to everyone who has donated, purchased books, and sent well wishes to Mr. Irving. Men with his courage, character, and talent are very rare. After taking numerous history courses in my educational journey, and reading enough "history" books to fill several bushel baskets, I can say that precious few of those instructors or authors even come close to what Mr. Irving has accomplished. His family deserves Thanks for helping out during this difficult episode. Best wishes, David, for a speedy recovery.

As political exiles from communist Cuba in 1960 I remember as a child my father commenting, not long after our family arrived on U.S. soil, that it was incomprehensible to him how the U.S. had allowed a two-bit gangster like Fidel Castro to secure a communist beach head in the Western Hemisphere. He had registered to go to the Bay of Pigs invasion, but it did not take him long to realize that these freedom fighters were going to be betrayed by JFK and he pulled out just in time. He was, of course, proved right by the disastrous sequela. Henceforth, his search for historical and political truth and accuracy led him to build a sizeable library at home I was privy to of quite a few books by varied and reputable authors.

You can say that it rubbed off on me. This is why I can only have admiration for historians such as David Irving who do not compromise their integrity and values. If it were not for authors of his intelligence, caliber, and steadfastness we would continue to be in the dark. I have purchased and read most of his works and I hope and pray that my modest donation contributes to help him regain his health.

There are many ties I have with David Irving, that is what icons do. They remind you of familiar people, their experiences, one can so well relate to. My mother for example used to plow through files for days and taught herself the reading of old German handwriting for research. Once I remarked in an e-mail how he is such a father (and many others) teaching the value of real history and f interest was the period that formed my parents,like him i wanted to know what really happened and why.

It was hard to accept that Mr.Irving ended up fighting much of the battle for free speech alone,but like Solzhenitsyn rightfully said:A great writer is one who tells the truth without fear or favor.

I also told him that his battle is not forgotten and his legacy will last and he laid the solid basis for that,hopefully that knowledge hovers over his thoughts in these hard times.

I wish Mr.Irving and his family strenght for now,my thoughts are with you and i will try to aid to my ability.

Kind regards,

Benjamin

Among David's timeless gifts to mankind, besides his numerous scholarly works, has been his unrelenting courage to speak TRUTH - to remain DEFIANT in the face of constant threats to speak the truth - what a role model! What a hero! What a legacy to inspire future truth tellers!! His books are trophies reflecting his indomitable courage. I can't imagine the hardships David's family endured to allow him to write; no doubt their sacrifices were long and intense; and I am as grateful to them as I am to David. I'm so saddened that David is ending a long storied career. Our species need him more than ever though surely there are young historians inspired by his professionalism and magnificent character to carry the torch. David, his family, and circle of friends are in my prayers. Long live David Irving!!

David Irving is a pillar of truth. Sadly, in this day and age of neocons, commies, pinkos, leftists, liberals, and so forth truth has been hijacked. It is downright sickening. We all know who the culprits are, but they are protected by the media and filthy ultra rich. Best wishes for a full recovery and hope to attend one of your lectures again so that I can shake your hand again.

To Mr. David Irving,

You, Sir, are a national treasure. You have worked for so many years against all the odds and the unfairness that has come out since the end of the Second World War and I have nothing but huge respect for you, Sir.

Your works, which you committed so much time to, and professionalism will always be respected, so thank you, David.

I will 100% continue to read your material again and again, as well as spread it to the next generation as it should be.

Thank you so much, Mr. Irving.
